SCoMETHING NEW

The grads have established a lending library of 53 1/3 recordings in the Graduate Office. It's for students, faculty, and staff. Among the records are Les Elgart's new release, "Sophisticated Swing", and the limited edition of Glenn Miller, Vol. II (5 records). Of course, the 3 Bs (Bach, Beethoven and Brahms for you fellows with the crew cuts) are represented in the library, as well as Chopin, Gershwin, Hadyn, Mendelssohn, Rimsky-Korsakoff, Schumann, Verdi and Wagner. Included is the Book-of-the-Month Club music appreciation series for those who wish to pull a recording apart to see what makes it click.

See the list of records posted on the Graduate Bulletin Board in Marshall. The rental charge is 10 cents per disk per week. This is to take care of the inevitable replacement. How about studying to music- that might do it.

A PAT ON THE BACK

By now you know that the College of Forestry gave 185 pints of blood, whereas Syracuse University gave only 200 pints in the same drive. This is one more mark in our column. Next year it might be a good idea to challenge the University.

A note from blood drive chairman, Bill Ayars states that the 185 pints represents 30% of our College. There were only 2 rejections. Good work, students; and hats off to chairman Ayars.

A SALUTE TO NIFKIN

We stuck our grubby little hands into the mailbox the other day and came up with this note:

"Congratulations to Robin Hood and especially to Saengerbund- this year's Nifkin Ball was tops!"

Bill Ayars"

Editor's Note: In a few words, the thanks of the whole school is forwarded to Robin Hood, chairman, George Wooding and everyone associated with the Nifkin Ball for another job well done.

REPORT FROM THE EM. IRE FORESTER

The 1956 "Empire Forester" has started to move with the organization of its staff. It is hoped that with an early organization and planning, the minor difficulties of the previous years' E.F.'s may be overcome. '55 editor Colasard has promoted this early organization and the '56 staff appreciates it greatly. There are still several openings
A COLLEGE OF FORESTRY PLACEMENT SERVICE?

A few weeks ago, Stan Hovcy, Vern Clapp, Gary Burgess, and Tony Di Fentima visited Washington, D.C. where they attended a joint meeting of the American Society of Photogrammetry and the American Congress on Surveying and Mapping. The purpose of the trip was to possibly meet someone from one of the hundreds of companies and organizations represented who would offer them the possibility of a job.

No doubt, the administration looks favorably on such initiative in job seeking. But why should men graduating from other colleges in the Country have the advantage of good placement offices, while our placement is in the capable but limited hands of Jack Barrett who already has another job to do?

I agree that the student should look for his own job, but a man to advise him as to where and how to start looking would be a great help. The administration may feel that there is no need for a placement man in a full time capacity, but the feeling among students is so strong and wide-spread that this must be a problem worth looking into.

BANQUET NOTE, CABINET NEWS AND OTHER BABBLE

The annual Tree School Banquet will be held again at the Hotel Syracuse. The date is Thursday, April 21, the time 6:30, the main dish, roast turkey. So shine up your stumpie boots, dust off the shirt and tie and get set for a real good time. Tickets are available from all class presidents. (And I don't want to see any scabs in the landscape lab that night. The good professors have told me that you can have the night off if all your work is in on Friday).

The results of the recent elections will be announced at the Banquet.

We were unable to attend the last Cabinet meeting, so as a result, the minutes will not be published in this issue. Look for them here in the future. Meanwhile, see the bulletin board for the latest Cabinet news.

Due to the many requests, the furthering and continuing adventures of Parka Bollo and the TRUE story of paper, as told to Steinhold will be continued in later issues.

NEWS FROM THE HITCHIN' POST

March 20 marks the engagement of Trudy Rochford and Jim Goodwin.

We hear tell that Roger Boker Jr. and Gloria "Dutch" Mochel plan an August wedding.
