If you haven't gotten your ticket for the Unbarbeque yet, don't despair. We will still be selling them at the door. For those of you who don't know what the Unbarbeque is I'll give you the bare facts. It's a dance with a great band, Brighton Rock, lots of beer and soda, and a couple hundred stumpies out for a good time. Now if you really want to know what the Unbarbeque is, ask someone who went last year.

The Unbarbeque will be held on February 8, this Friday night. The wingding starts at 9 pm and the first bus leaves for Drumlin at 8:45. We'll have a bus running continuously out and back leaving from behind Moon Library.

Yah'll come on out thar and hav a good time now, y'hear?

$500 GIVEN TO PACK

The Pack Forest Natural Area in Warrensburg was threatened a few years ago by uncontrolled development on adjacent lands. But the Adirondack Branch of the Nature Conservancy along with Shelley Potter, Pack Forest Manager, and many others quickly purchased the private land for a buffer strip. It cost over $12,000 for this 11 acre tract but it was well worth it. Anyone who has visited this virgin forest at Pack will never forget the magnificent white pine and hemlock found there. It is the habitat for many animals and often serves as a wintering area for the local deer.

This 47 acre virgin forest was set aside about 20 years ago by the College. The paths through the tract are well traveled and Mr. Potter, who takes great pride in the area, often leads nature hikes through the forest.

Money was still needed by Mr. Potter to pay off the debt to Nature Conservancy; two weeks ago, the CES&F Paper Recycling Group donated $500 to the fund. This $500 is part of the money the Group has earned by recycling papers here at the College during the past four years. It is hoped that this contribution will be the beginning of a new wave of donations for the preservation of one of the few remaining areas of virgin forest in the east. Contributions can be sent to:

TYPING ROOM AVAILABLE

At long last the Class of 1973's "Senior Gift" is to be put into operation. Within a week the typewriters in the Informal Study Room in Moon Library will be ready for use. At this time we are just waiting for two parts to come in for them to be fully operational. Last year's Senior Class and the Administration have bought these machines as a public service for the students. Their only request is that you use the machines properly so that they will be available for everyone.
